Description

Push hard on every run in these women's tights. They're made of compression fabric that supports your muscles and moisture-wicking climalite® for dry comfort. With a double-layer gusseted crotch for extra comfort, they have a sweat-guard zip pocket that helps keep your essentials dry.

techfit™ sprintweb is a PU print, specially designed for runners. The reduced PU print area supports the runners at key points in its linear motion. Posture and stability is positively influenced.

climalite®: The specially designed fabric, fibers and surfaces transport sweat away from the skin to the surface of the garment and from here to the atmosphere. Your body is trying to keep its natural temperature constant. CLIMALITE® helps you to speed up this process and keeps you cool and dry in warm weather.

Material: polyamide, 29% elastane
