Description

Power through your run in long-lasting, dry comfort. This men's running t-shirt keeps sweat from weighing you down, so you can stay focused on your run. Lightweight climalite® fabric draws moisture away from your skin as your body heats up, and the soft, fluid fabric adapts to your body's movement as your arms cycle through your stride. The short sleeve, crewneck tee is finished with reflective details.

climalite®: The specially designed fabric, fibers and surfaces transport sweat away from the skin to the surface of the garment and from here to the atmosphere. Your body is trying to keep its natural temperature constant. CLIMALITE® helps you to speed up this process and keeps you cool and dry in warm weather.

Material 100% polyester
